Optional Rule: Multiclassing

If you use the optional multiclassing rule in the Player’s Handbook, here’s what you need to know if you choose lycan as one of your classes.

- 0 0 a If you are not already a lycan, you cannot choose to take a level in this class without first contracting lycanthropy.
- 0 0 a If you already are a lycan, you must have a Strength and Wisdom score of at least 13 to take a level in another class.
- 0 a If lycan is not your initial class, you only gain proficiency with simple weapons.

Facing the Beast

Upon reaching 11th level, your DM can choose to have you face your Beast Spirit in a one-on-one challange.

The DM determines the nature of this challenge and how it takes place (for example, in your psyche, or possibly as a physical apparation). Until you succeed, you do not gain the benefits of your Tame the Beast feature.

Death Roll

dcc
1-5	The creature takes slashing damage equal to 3 times your Beast Bonus.
6-15	The creature takes slashing damage equal to 4 times your Beast Bonus.
16-30	The creature takes slashing damage equal to 5 times your Beast Bonus.
31-50	The creature takes slashing damage equal to 6 times your Beast Bonus.
51-75	The creature takes slashing damage equal to 7 times your Beast Bonus.
76-93	The creature takes slashing damage equal to 8 times your Beast Bonus, and if it is not immune to slashing damage, doesn't have legendary actions, and the GM decides it is possible, you rip off one of the creature's arms. It then takes 1d8 necrotic damage at the start of each of its turns until it regains hit points.
94-98	The creature takes slashing damage equal to 9 times your Beast Bonus, and if it is not immune to slashing damage, doesn't have legendary actions, and the GM decides it is possible, you rip off one of the creature's legs. If the creature then has less than 4 legs, its movement speed is halved, it has disadvantage on Strength and Dexterity saving throws, and it takes 1d12 necrotic damage at the start of each of its turns until it regains hit points.
99-100	The creature takes slashing damage equal to 10 times your Beast Bonus, and if it is not immune to slashing damage, doesn't have legendary actions, and the GM decides it is possible, you rip off one of the creature's heads. The creature dies if it can't survive without the lost head.

Combat in Populated Areas

When playing as a lycan, remember that commonfolk are not likely to tolerate your presence if you reveal your curse to them! If combat breaks out in a populated area, like a town square, your best option may be to use your Beast Form.

You might even be able to pass yourself off as a druid if they only see you turn into a normal animal!
